

The Ocelot

by FanfictionLover0786

Category: Minecraft: Story Mode

Genre: Adventure, Romance

Language: English

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-10 03:03:36

Updated: 2016-04-24 17:51:51

Packaged: 2016-04-27 20:51:49

Rating: T

Chapters: 2

Words: 1,945

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: The Ocelot is a fan fiction based upon Lukas' thoughts and actions. Which honestly is more dialogue than anything else. The story goes along with each episode and will contain spoilers. I might change some parts for "shipping purposes." Teen just cause.

1. Chapter 1

Lukas's Point Of View "Hey," I glanced at the lady behind the desk. She looked like she was about 45 years old. Her hair was put in a casual style, and gray strands were showing.

>"Hi, welcome to this year's building competition! You guys are the Ocelots, right?""Yeah," I respond confidently. She was definitely older, if I was correct.

>"Just sign in and go to booth six."After a few seconds, I heard the lady start talking.

>"Oh, Jesse's here! It's such a shame her team never wins. She is so nice, don't you think?" She smiled at Jesse who was somewhere behind me."She's never really talked to me, the rest of the team hates her though," My voice trailed off.

>She frowned to herself, murmuring something about "change." Aiden elbowed me in the stomach. I noticed Jesse, and her green eyes locked on me. I must have looked stupid or something because she let a giggle escape. I smiled and headed back towards the booth. A few people started talking to Aiden, so I just stared at Jesse.(Seriously, I don't know if it's just me, but Lukas stares like a stalker when Jesse is trying to come up with a name.) She was silent, thinking. I studied her face until she talked, bringing me back to reality."Hey Lukas, do you have the beacon?" Aiden shouted to me, loud enough for the people around us to hear. People nervously glanced at me, knowing that the expensive item would bring our build more points.

>"Umm...no forgot it at home," I don't know what came over me, maybe it was the lady or Jesse. But I don't want this to be too unfair."Maybe we can just build something else?"Aiden was furious. He thought I didn't have the beacon Petra gave me. "Hurry up and get the beacon, the house is not far!"

>Ugh. Now I have no choice. I left the beacon in the chest."Hey, uh, Aiden, I forgot I put the beacon in the chest. My bad." I took it out, trying to show to as few people as possible.

>Maya rubbed up against me, patting my back, saying I did a good job in her whiny voice. She tried laying her head on my shoulder, but I pulled back with an annoyed look on my face. Why did that girl never take a hint? She retreated back towards Aiden as he started nudging Gill. I noticed Jesse walking up to the booth beside us, and I tried putting the beacon back. It was way too late."Oh look, it's the 'Order of the Losers'!" Gill joked. Maya covered her giggle with her arm.

>"Good one, Gill," She laughed.I stopped listening and tried to block them out as Aiden came.

>I couldn't ignore Jesse yelling."Shut up!" Everyone else heard it as well, because they all went quiet. Usually, Jesse took it lightly. Whatever Aiden said must have took it too far. I walked over quickly hoping to break the tension.

>"Stop wasting your time Aiden, we have work to do," Aiden might boss me around, but he knows it just as much as everyone else. I am the leader of the Ocelots."You're lucky I'm busy."

>Petra walked over looking to Jesse. Petra used to get bullied a lot by the Ocelots back in Elementary school, but Jesse helped out. Soon Petra decided to defend herself, and the moment Aiden layed a hand on her, she pinned him on the ground. In the end, Petra got suspended and Aiden got expelled for a few months. Afterwards, the two got close. I would have considered getting to know Jesse, but we weren't in the same grade."Hey Jesse. Lukas."

>"Petra," Jesse said. I never really realized how sweet her voice was before now. I realized I might have been staring at Jesse, so I awkwardly turned to Petra."How's the build going?" She faced Axel.

>"Only time will tell, but we're optimistic."Thanks for the Nether Star, Petra," I noticed Jesse start staring at me. A slight blush appeared on my cheeks, for reasons I don't know. I don't think I liked her. I mean, this is the first time I ever heard her voice. I can't just say I lo-liked her because she talked. And her black hair flowed. And her eyes were pretty. And her just being here made me blush.

>"No problem.""You helped these tools?" Axel, who hadn't talked until Petra came, asked. "For the right price, I'll help anyone," If I was correct I hadn't payed yet. But I will, since everyone knows not to mess with Petra. "If you need me, you know where to find me."

>Olivia called out to her just as she started to walk away. "But none of us know where to find you!""Exactly."

>I stared at Jesse and waited for her to say something. She just looked back with a smile.After years of school and adulthood, I finally had the courage to talk to Jesse.

To those who have read Him: I have worked on Him for weeks now, and I am assuring you that once I have about 10 chapters completed, I will upload it and work on it. For now, I hope you enjoy my take on what Minecraft Story Mode would be like from Lukas' perspective. This may have a lot of Lukesse...tehehehe...

2. Chapter 2

Lukas' Point Of View I chose my words carefully, making sure not to say anything that would upset her. I want this to be something short, approachable, and kind. "Are we cool?"

>"Yeah, Lukas," Though she stood only a little bit away, she seemed so close. "May the best team win!""Careful whatcha wish for," Jesse murmured something, then returned to their booth. The old lady from before gave some quick announcements, the prizes, the welcomes, and finally the signal to build. We all knew what we were doing. A rainbow beacon. Maya was the person who completed all the redstone. No wonder she was jealous of Olivia. Gill took the job of relaxing, since he got most of the materials. Aiden built a staircase so we could climb up and down our build. I took the job of placing the beacon and the stained glass down. I finished quickly and sat near the bottom. I stared at Jesse. Her hair layed flat against her back. She didn't seem to break a sweat, which is surprizing, seeing how fast she's working. She locked eyes with me. I went stiff. Until I realized Aiden was yelling something at her. I took a deep breath. Why did I care so much?

>Aiden finished, just in time to see a small group gathering around the booth beside us. Jesse seemed estatic. The lever beside Olivia was pulled, as Aiden broke a block, that was keeping lava from getting to their build. Before any of that went to my mind, a pig in a cute dragon costume, set fire. "Rueben!" Jesse raced after the pig, knocking Aiden over."Jesse!" I called, but it was too late. The rest of the Ocelots heard me and gave me disapproving looks, but I didn't care. I raced into the woods, determined to find Jesse and her pig.

>The air was freezing. Dark shadows filled the forest. A tall collumn of smoke was visible. "R-Rueben?" That was the name I heard Jesse say. A pig raced by me, when I noticed the pig had a flaming dragon costume."Hey, there now," I took some water I had in my pocket and poured it over him. I removed I looked at the pig, small and cute, with the most innocent eyes I ever saw. "H-Hey, um, Rueben, right?"

>The pig nodded in approval. I chuckled softly."You are looking for Jesse, right?"

>Again he nodded, smiling sheepishly."I can help you look, if you want..." With that, Rueben jumped up and sniffed around. I laughed, while thinking if Jesse had this much fun with Rueben. I could imagine her, holding him, smiling, her voice saying his name.

>Rueben was fast and I could barely keep up. Sometimes, if we would both be bored, I would feed him a carrot and he would play around with a stick. Suddenly, growls came and Rueben ran so fast I couldn't keep up. "Rueben, it's getting scary out here!"Jesse! I ran towards the sound of her voice, only to see her find Rueben in tall grass. I smiled at her, which thankfully, she didn't see. Rueben was oinking loudly, and she turned towards me quickly. Jesse shushed the pig, making me inch closer. Hesitating, I reminded myself of how much of a creep I was being towards her. I silently slipped past to Endercon.

>"Lukas! You're back!" I rolled my eyes at Maya, who was acting small and childish. "Does it really matter?""Of course! I can't have any other girls taking advantage of you, can I?" She placed a hand on my shoulder, but I pushed it off, seeing Jesse walk in. She noticed me staring and I grinned at her. Jesse just shook her head and walked on.

>"Oh," Maya's disappointment filled the air, till Aiden walked in."Lukas! Where were you? You missed Jesse stupidly chasing her pig into the forest!" "She didn't act stupid. I thought it was smart, actually."

>"Yeah, you're right. I mean, who wouldn't want to go into a dark forest alone at night?" Aiden questioned sarcastically."At least Jesse's braver than you," Aiden balled up his fist and hit me in the face.

>He laughed coldly as I fell. My vision turned red and blood fell down my nose. I gasped for air. The blow from Aiden was unexpected, making it hurt more. His smirk made me want to hurt him. Hard. I stood up and thought to myself. I drew my fist back and hesitated. Laying my arms by my side, I backed off, walking away from Aiden."You're a coward!"

>I kept walking. Other people stared at me and him. When I was away from Aiden, I looked up, only to be met with a giant creeper. Jesse's team won. Their build was great. I smiled to myself, for whatever reason, and walked off to a corner.I lost track of time. I must've stared off into space for hours. Jesse was walking towards me. "Sup," I said casually.

>"Nothing, sup with you?""Nothing, sup with you?" I replied, quickly realizing I said something stupid.

>"I just said nothing.""..yeah..." I didn't know how to respond. "Your build was great! I mean, I thought the fireworks were cool, but a creeper on top of it was amazing!"

>"Your build wasn't too shabby as well.""You don't have to do that, okay? You won fair and square."

>"Lukas, um, have you seen a creepy guy with a long beard?" "No, why?""He kinda scammed Petra and I out of a deal earlier," Jesse told me.

>"Nobody messes with Petra, not if they know what's good for them." My voice trailed off. I hadn't completed my part of the deal yet, and I don't think I could. Not unless I begged Jesse. Looking at her, as she left, I called out. "So, uh, are we cool?""Yeah were cool."

>"Cool, cool.""Coolio."

>"Coolness," I grinned at her, and she laughed."See you later Lukas!"

>"See you," My voice went silent and I was reminded of Petra's deal with me.Jesse, stood confidently, and I thought, just for a moment, what would happen if Petra was right? That one question that could be answered with, "maybe."

End
file.